Dr. A. D. Blackburn Named County Healthier

N. Holland Man Replaces Kerns

New Administrator Enters University for Post-Graduate Course; Starts Work Sept. 1

Dr. Arthur D. Blackburn, who has served as superintendent of New Holland schools for the last four years, was employed by the Pickaway county board of health Friday afternoon as health commissioner. He will assume his duties Sept. 1.

Dr. Blackburn was graduated from Miami Medical college with a M. D. degree in 1902 and is registered in the state to practice medicine and surgery. He practiced medicine in Clinton county for four years before entering educational work.

VETERANS SEEK STRICT SUPERVISION OF ALIENS

TOLEDO, June 26. — (UP) — Resolutions calling for strict supervision of aliens entering the United States, and reaffirming opposition to communism were adopted today at the Ohio Veterans of Foreign Wars encampment.

Both the V. F. W. and its women's auxiliary were to elect officers today.

MARKET TRADING DECLINES DURING STEEL TROUBLE

NEW YORK, June 26 — (UP) — Trading on the New York Stock Exchange fell off to around the lightest levels in two years during the last week as prices made an irregular decline.

Uncertainty over the steel strike situation was a dominant factor. Failure of the mediation board to get both sides together was regarded as unfavorable late in the week. In not a single five-hour day did the volume even approximate a million shares and on Thursday the total turnover was below a half million.

Bonds followed the action of stocks, but commodities had several periods of strength and closed the week higher. Business advanced on the average although steel operations hit a new low for the year and electricity output dipped from the previous week. The latter still was more than 11 percent above the corresponding period of 1936 and for the first half will break all records.

CARMODY SIGNS LOAN OF $105,000 FOR RURAL WORK

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26 — John M. Carmody, rural electrification administrator, signed the loan contract Friday for the allocation of $105,000 to the South Central Ohio Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., Congressman Harold K. Claypool announced.

This complete action on the first allocation of funds to begin construction on the project in Fairfield county. The project includes Fairfield, Pickaway and Perry counties.

COURTRIGHT ACCEPTS JOB WITH MEAD CORP.

Vattier Courtright, whose resignation as assistant field engineer for W.P.A. in Pickaway county became effective Saturday, has accepted a position as electrical engineer with the Mead Corporation, Chillicothe. He will assume his new duties Monday.

SENATE TO QUIZ PICKENS ABOUT OLD AGE OFFICE

Former Local Man Sought For Questioning By "Hatchet Men"

Ferd M. Pickens, former Pickaway county clerk of courts, is expected to testify next week before an Ohio senate sub-committee which is investigating the old age pension division.

Pickens is business administrator for the division. Sen. E. Matthews Steele, Clinton county Democrat, a committee member, said that the committee sought to learn how many pensions are awarded for "political" reasons; why Governor Davey "found it convenient" during his last election campaign to raise pensions $10 a month; whether some limitation can be placed on the number of persons receiving pensions; how many "chiselers" can be weeded out and whether some pensioners have dependents who can support them without state aid. A subpoena has been issued for Mr. Pickens, but deputy sheriffs were unable to locate him Saturday.

Sen. Steele charges Pickens is "hiding" from the committee. Deputies reported they were told he was out of town, but would be back Monday.

The committee seeking to question the former local man is comprised entirely of the senate's so-called "hatchet men". They are Harry M. Van Doren, D. Summit; John Taylor, D. Columbiana, and Steele.

DAVEY, BAGGOTT TO MAKE PEACE OVER FINANCES?

COLUMBUS, June 26 — (UP) — A break in the appropriations bill deadlock by Monday as a result of a conference between Gov. Davey and Sen. Horace W. Baggott, D. Montgomery, youthful senate "hatchet men" leader was predicted today.

Sen. Baggott said the governor had agreed to the senate demand that the bill carry budgeted appropriations throughout instead of "lump sum" appropriations; was willing to accept the senate's redistribution of rotary funds, and would not oppose a provision that funds saved through general reductions be set aside for poor relief purposes.

The governor refused to yield on the insurgent proposal to carry all appropriations for 1937 and 1938 in one bill, Baggott said, and asserted he would veto any budget bill that prohibited the transfer of employees from one department to another.

The governor also refused to agree to the proposal to restrict the control board's authority to transfer funds within a department, Baggott said.

ESTATE LETTERS ISSUED FOR TEEGARDIN PROPERTY

Letters of administration in the estate of Clinton B. Teegardin, Madison township, were issued in probate court Friday to Paul W. and Mary L. Teegardin.

Ira Fisher, A. M. Peters and J. R. Hedges were appointed appraisers. The estate is estimated at $40,000 of which $25,000 is in real estate.

SCIOTO STARTS ITS SECOND RISE IN WEEK'S TIME

Weather Bureau Informs Dr. Clarke River May Pass Earlier Mark

LOSS ESTIMATES VARY

Many Farmers Not Planning to Re-plant Corn

The Scioto river started its second rise Saturday morning.

How fast it would rise and what peak might be expected was uncertain. Officials of the Columbus weather bureau wired Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, Friday evening, notifying him a second flood could be expected and warning him that it might be higher than the first.

At 8 a. m. Saturday the river was 12.36 feet. "There is considerable drift in the stream," Dr. Clarke said. "That would indicate some new territory north of here has been flooded and we can expect the stream to rise steadily."

The drop to 12.36 feet took a large part of the water out of the lowlands. The stream's crest in the first flood, reached Wednesday night, was 19.24 feet. At 8 a. m. Friday the stream was at the 13-foot stage.

Northern Section Hit
A second torrential downpour within a week struck the headwaters of the Scioto and Sandusky rivers, Friday. Rainfall in Columbus Friday amounted to 2.06 of an inch.

F. K. Blair, county farm agent, believes Pickaway county farmers have suffered greater losses than those in either Franklin and Ross counties. Ross countians, he said, were able to move some of their wheat out of the flooded areas. None could be saved here.

Loss Estimates Vary
Mr. Blair said he talked with farmers from one end of the county to the other, Friday night, in an effort to determine some estimate of the damage caused. "Opinions varied from $200,000 up to a million," he said. "One guess is just as good as another. With a second flood coming it is impossible to say what damage can be expected. Some of the farmers are not considering re-planting their corn crops."

Farmers throughout the highlands of the county are harvesting their wheat as quickly as possible. (Continued on Page Two)

IRWIN, SUSPECT IN GEDEON CASE, EVADES ARREST

CLEVELAND, June 26 — (UP) — Detective Lieut. Stephen Tozzer said today that a downtown hotel employee who disappeared suddenly last night "undoubtedly" was Robert Irwin, sought by New York police in connection with the East-Cor Sunday murders of Veronica Gedeon, beautiful artist's model, her mother, and a lodger in their apartment.

The man, who had worked in the hotel first as a dishwasher and then as a bartender for a month under the name of James Murry, disappeared shortly after he was confronted with a picture of the 29-year-old Irwin in a detective story magazine.

Detectives went to a smaller hotel where Murry lived and found his room empty. The night clerk, Manuel Miradas, said Murry checked out some time during the night, taking all of his clothes. The clerk identified Murry as Irwin through a picture in a circular sent out by New York police.

35 GIVEN JOBS

During the last week the National Reemployment Service has placed 35 men in employment. Twenty-three were assigned to farmers for wheat harvesting.

Map Gives Key to Latest European Crisis

THIS map illustrates the latest development in the Spanish war — the increasing power of Europe's powers around war-stricken Spain. Radio and telegraphic instructions fill the air as the latest threat of a German-Italian blockade, in reprisal, adds to the tenseness of the situation. Heads and leaders of Europe's powers, including President Manuel Azana of Spain, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Great Britain, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy, Fuehrer Adolf Hitler of Germany and Premier Camille Chautemps of France, are chief figure in this international game of chess.

RING LOST SINCE DIRIGIBLE CRASH FOUND ON WEED

CALDWELL, June 26 — (UP) — A mystery growing out of the navy dirigible Shenandoah disaster near Ava, O., Sept. 3, 1925, was solved today when Mrs. Faye Larison plucked from the stalk of a mustard weed in her garden the missing Annapolis Naval Academy class ring of Commander Zachary Lansdowne, one of the 14 who died in the crash.

Agents of the department of justice had attempted to find the highly prized ring of Commander Lansdowne. The government spent much money in the search for it, offering lucrative rewards for its return.

But Mother Earth guarded closely the secret of the missing ring until Mrs. Larison came across it in her garden. The ring was found within two yards of a monument in memory of those who died in America's first major airship tragedy. Thousands had tramped over the ground in search of it.

Mrs. Larison moved to the Andy Gamary farm three weeks ago and started the garden. She was weeding the garden and as she started to pull the mustard weed out by the roots, she was astonished to see a shining gold ring hanging on the stalk.

Under naval rules, the ring is to go to the widow. Mrs. Lansdowne had remarried and resides in Washington, D. C. The ring is being held at Cambridge pending directions from the navy department as to its disposition.

Rebels Mass Soldiers For Santander Drive

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, June 26. — (UP) — Spanish nationalists developed their offensive on Santander at its fullest power today, driving in two main sections along the coast and from southwest of Bilbao.

At the same time dispatches from Madrid reported that the Nationalists had massed thousands of men, scores of tanks, motorized units and cavalry 12 1/2 miles south of Madrid with the apparent idea of making a new effort to cut the road to Valencia, the beleaguered capital's only outlet to the sea.

Along the Biscay coast, dispatches said, the Nationalists advanced their line to a point nearly 10 miles west of Bilbao, operating on a 15 1/2 mile front. Southwest of Bilbao the nationalists took the towns of Sodupe, Godejuela and Ureta, and prepared to move westward on the important road junction town of Valmaseda.

It is planned that this column and the coastal force shall join later in an effort to cut off part of the Basque Loyalist army, now consolidating new lines of defense in Santander province. Nationalist wireless stations continued to report interception of messages from Santander authorities, appealing urgently for soldiers and supplies.

United Press dispatches from Madrid indicated that the Nationalist threat on the vital Valencia road, main artery for supplies from the east coast, might prove a serious one.

RURAL INCOMES OF 10 BILLIONS SEEN THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, June 26 — (UP) — Farm income this year will cross the $10,000,000,000 mark for the first time since 1929, Department of Agriculture estimates forecast today.

Unless a European war cuts off American markets, farm prices now at a 10-year high probably will be "well maintained" despite prospects of a bumper crop, department officials said as the growing season neared the halfway mark with no serious drought threatening production.

Farm income during the first six months of this year probably will average approximately $100,000,000 a month more than for the first half of last year, officials said. They predicted the increase will be "somewhat larger" in the last six months.

SOLDIERS WATCH AS SMOKE RISES FROM BIG MILLS

"C. I. O. She Blow Up," Says Hungarian Picket As Men March to Jobs

SITUATION STILL TENSE

National Guardsmen Trying to Evade Trouble

YOUNGSTOWN, June 26. — (UP) — Bayonet-armed militia men guarded the gates of Mahoning Valley steel mills today to protect non-strikers who were returning to work for the first time since the Committee for Industrial Organization called a walkout a month ago that made 80,000 men idle in seven states.

Smoke rising from the chimneys of Republic Steel Corporation and Youngstown Sheet and Tube company plants, drifted across the streets of Youngstown, Warren and Canton, where strikers made a last stand appeal to non-strikers not to march to their jobs and where torn and soot-smudged C.I.O. banners had been dropped by the wayside.

"They shall not pass," one banner had been inscribed in flaming scarlet before it fell under the feet of returning workers outside the Youngstown Sheet and Tube plant. Torn and dirty, the lettering was transformed to read: —

"They shall pass." And they did. At the regular shift changes more men went in to fire the big furnaces, to tend the flaming open hearths that will put 32,000 men in the Youngstown area back to work within the next few days if company plans do not fail.

"The C.I.O. she blow up," one Hungarian picket cried in disgust as he watched men returning to work.

"We've broken the back of Bolshevism right here," was the comment of Traffic Commissioner Clarence Coppersmith as he inspected the picket lines.

Pickets Watch March
Pickets glumly watched the back-to-work march. They talked sullen in alien tongues — Polish, Hungarian and Italian. One elderly man said:

"They're all dirty rats, going in there and breaking our strike. They'll lose out in the long run."

His companion shook his head and said:

McCRADY WARNS PERSONS FIRING LOUD 'CRACKERS

"Persons who shoot firecrackers or torpedoes can expect to be arrested."

This statement was made Saturday by Police Chief William McCrady following complaints from residents that youngsters started celebrating the Fourth of July on Friday, June 25.

McCrady cited the city's ordinance. It follows: "It shall be unlawful for any person or persons to fire, explode, or discharge, any anvil, fire cracker, torpedo, rocket, roman candle or any fire works or explosive materials or substance of any kind or description within the limits of the city. Any person violating any of the provisions shall, on conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not exceeding $50."

The police chief said the department would direct its activities largely against those shooting firecrackers and torpedoes. "They injure fingers and eyes," he said.

PEDESTRIAN HIT BY BARTON CAR AT MAIN STREET

CHURCH COUNCIL TO MEET FROM AUGUST 18 TO 30

None of the buildings on the Mount of Praise, camp meeting grounds of the Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio, will be enlarged this year, Rev. O. L. Ferguson, pastor of the local church and camp superintendent, said Saturday.

"We expect to do some repair work and a few new cottages may be erected," the Rev. Mr. Ferguson said. His announcement followed a recent meeting of the camp trustees.

The annual camp meeting session this year will be held from Aug. 18 to 30. Thousands of church members from throughout Ohio and nearby states attend the annual meetings. Plans have been considered for several years for enlarging the tabernacle. Last year additional benches were constructed at the rear of the building to take care of the crowds.

Disposal Plant Discussion to Be Held After Note Declines Land Sale

COUNCILMEN IN CONFAB

Need For Pumps At Other Sites Would Add Cost

Council as a committee, officials of the Container Corporation and Floyd G. Browne, Marion, O., sanitary engineer, will meet next Wednesday afternoon to view the proposed site back of Container Corporation for the sewage disposal plant, and hold a general discussion on the situation.

This meeting was planned Friday afternoon when councilmen and Mayor W. J. Graham met in the law offices of Carl C. Leist, solicitor, to consider a letter from the Container Corporation stating the company has decided not to sell or lease land for the plant.

The letter, sent to city officials by Robert L. Ekins, local plant manager, stated, "We have Mr. R. N. Clark's letter of June 5 and the attached drawing illustrating the proposed sewage disposal plant for the city of Circleville. Incidentally Mr. Clark did not show location of Container's possible future disposal plant as the writer had asked."

Decided by Company

"For your information our company officials have decided not to sell or lease any of the land in question. This decision was rendered after all phases of sewage disposal were considered carefully," Mr. Clark is Mr. Browne's assistant.

The letter was a blow to councilmen, and what the next step in the proposition will be is uncertain. They desire to discuss the situation with plant officials.

Councilmen gave the site back of the Container Corporation first choice as at this location it would not be necessary to use pumps. All sewage would be handled on a gravity basis. Pumps would be necessary at the other two sites given consideration. In addition to the additional expense of installing pumps, their operation would raise the operation expense.

Council's next regular session will be held Wednesday night.

SOLDIERS WATCH AS SMOKE RISES FROM BIG MILLS

"C. I. O. She Blow Up," Says Hungarian Picket As Men March to Jobs

they had to go back. An empty belly ain't an easy thing."

The danger of violence, however, had not ended and the great industrial cities of Youngstown and Canton were tense, despite the presence of 4,488 national guardsmen, reinforced by new mobilizations yesterday.

In Johnstown, Pa., the threat of violence mounted with the invasion of thousands of coal miners who strengthened the picket lines at Bethlehem Steel Corporation's big Cambria plant and declared that "we can't afford to let the steel workers lose this fight."

Final Stand Faced

Thus the C. I. O. leaders were faced with the necessity of making a final stand against complete reopening of the plants which Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube started operating after they had joined with the Inland Steel company and the Bethlehem Corporation in rejecting the Federal Steel Mediation Board's peace negotiations.

The board, headed by Charles P. Taft, II, continued in intermittent session in Cleveland but without any immediate indication of being able to make progress toward settlement of the strike over whether companies should sign union contracts. Inland Steel joined Republic and Sheet & Tube in rejecting the board's proposal for a joint conference with labor leaders.

In the danger zones, the developments were:—

YOUNGSTOWN

Both Sheet & Tube and Republic, employing a total of 32,000 men who have lost $14,000,000 in pay checks during the strike, were reopening under Gov. Martin L. Davey's order for the national guard to protect both returning workers and pickets.

The superintendents of the Republic and Sheet & Tube plants estimated that half of their men had returned to work in less than 24 hours.

R. L. Leventry, of Republic, said 2,500 men had reported and another 1,000 had been reached and had indicated they would return. The plant normally employs 6,500 men.

Thousands Return

Bert Smith, of Sheet & Tube, said 6,000 men marched back to its Canfield and Brier Hill plants, which normally employ 11,000.

Republic lighted four of its 15 open hearth furnaces, Youngstown Sheet and Tube nine of 24. A Bessemer plant was scheduled for firing Monday. Youngstown Sheet & Tube planned to light its Bessemer plant the middle of next week.

Both companies operated on 12-hour shifts, changing at 7 a. m. (EST) and 7 p. m. The men are paid time and a half for four hours of their work. There were few pickets on the lines.

Two men were held on suspicion charges after guardsmen reported the discovery of a shotgun in C. I. O. headquarters at suburban Struthers.

WARREN AND NILES

C. I. O. workers in three departments of the Republic plants at Warren said they were virtually 100 percent organized and would not return to work. The strike committee wired President Roosevelt a request that he "all in his power" to arrange for a National Labor Relations board election and protested Davey's use of troops.

The company estimated that 2,000 workers entered the plant yesterday morning. Unionists said 700 had entered in each of two succeeding shifts. Normal employment is 6,700.

Operations Speeded

Republic plants at both Warren and Niles speeded up operations after having worked on a restricted basis during 30 days of picketing. Militia men enforced court restrictions on pickets. Prospects were that the plants would soon be back to almost normal, officials asserted. Strike crowds decreased.

CANTON AND MASSILLON

In the Canton area, danger of disorders continued. Sporadic bombings and acts of vandalism have marked the strike which closed four Republic plants. The United Alloy plant, a subsidiary of Republic, has operated despite the picketing.

The attitude of strikers toward returning workers prompted national guard commanders to ask that more men be sent into the district to enforce a temporary court order against picketing. Sheriff Joseph T. Mist, Police Chief Ira Manderbaugh and militia officers conferred and arranged to have about 1,000 additional troops sent in. Reopening of plants is expected next week.

More Strikes Loom

Chief threats of trouble lay in the possibility that the city labor council would call sympathy strikes if the picket lines were broken by force and in the offer of the united rubber workers at nearby Akron to aid the steel strike pickets.

The American Legion at Massillon conducted a back-to-work mass meeting and laid plans for a general reopening of two Republic steel plants there Monday with the help of troops expected momentarily.

Minor violence continued in the Canton area. E. N. Cooks, a picket, was arrested for hurling stones at the Republic plant with a slingshot. Sam Stokes, a picket, also was arrested when he interfered with police officers.

JOHNSTOWN, PA.

A full crew of 600 maintenance men worked in the Cambria plant of Bethlehem Steel in preparation for reopening of the mills in which 15,000 normally work. Picket lines were strengthened yesterday by 6,000 United Mine Workers. Several hundred remained in the lines today. About 200 state troopers stood guard to prevent trouble when the plant reopens "as soon as possible."

The Bethlehem local urged Philip Murray, S.W.O.C. Chairman, to propose a National Labor Board election.

CHICAGO

The Inland Steel plants, employing 13,000 men, remained closed for the time being as company officials advised the mediation board that they would not meet with C. I. O. Chairman John L. Lewis and his aides. C. B. Randall, speaking for the company, said that the only question now was when to reopen the mills.

"Our problems are different," he said, "and we are paying no attention to what the other steel companies may do."

CLEVELAND

Republic Steel is expected to reopen its Cleveland plants soon, it was disclosed after a conference in which Mayor Harold H. Burton and Vice-President Donald B. Gillies of the company, participated. Police will keep order when operations are resumed.

Union officials in charge of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee continued to advise their men not to return to the mills, asserting that "the strike is still on."

Sandusky Deluged

Sandusky was deluged Friday with a record of 5.7 inch rainfall which flooded streets and Erie county highways.

At Bucyrus, a two and a half inch rain sent the Sandusky river up and made many homeless for the second time within a week. Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a 50-mile gale in Crawford county. The fire alarm system in Marion was damaged by lightning, and the telephone system in Mansfield crippled.

Conservative estimates of damage from two severe rain, hail and electrical storms which crossed Ohio this week placed the loss at a half million dollars.

Sections hardest hit by the second storm, Friday, were in the vicinity of Sandusky and Bellevue, Norwalk, Milan, Elyria, Lorain and other northwestern Ohio cities were in the path of the deluge.

At Bellevue, Emerson Zeppernick, 20, was drowned when he attempted to swim across a pond on his father's farm. The pond was formed by the heavy rain.

Damage at Sandusky was estimated at $80,000.

Doctor Stalled

At Wellington, Dr. R. L. Shilling of Spencer was stalled in three feet of water on route 18 as he was answering a maternity call at the home of Paul Fleming. Fire Chief Lynn Coates with a wrecking car pulled the doctor's automobile from the water and he was able to reach the Fleming home in time to deliver a baby girl.

Several roads in northern Ohio were still blocked by water today.

PROBATE COURT GIRL, 18, FREED EMPLOYEES FLEE IN SLAYING OF MUMPS DANGERS ARKANSAS MAN

Probate court workers had difficulty keeping their minds on legal work Saturday morning—they were more interested in mumps.

A local woman strolled into probate court during the morning and took a chair in the rear of the department to register a complaint about her husband.

Harry Grove, employee, was working near her, obtaining some legal papers from a file.

"Have you ever had the mumps?" she inquired "No," was his reply. "Well, I got them," she said.

Things began happening fast in the department. Grove moved out of the room at a speedy pace. Alma Glick, another employee, disappeared in the filing vault. Several other persons in the department moved out.

Frank Goff, juvenile officer, asked the woman to "take her mumps and go home." He then started over the department with some health spray.

"How long does it take mumps to develop, and what are the precautions to escape them?" were questions in the minds of the workers.

LUTHERAN CHURCH'S BIBLE SCHOOL TO OFFER MORNING, EVENING PROGRAM

Youngsters Have Roles In Services

"Life of Joseph" To Be Portrayed By Fifty Boys, Girls

Sunday services in Trinity Lutheran church will be devoted to the eleventh annual Bible school. Sunday school will be held as usual at 9 a. m., with the morning service scheduled at 10:15 a. m. at which time the primary and junior Bible class pupils will present a program.

In the evening, the parish house will be used when the junior department of the Bible school presents "The Life of Joseph". There are 50 youngsters in the cast. The play begins at 7:30 o'clock.

Following is the program for the morning service: prelude, Mrs. Karl Herrmann; choir and Bible school processions; welcome, Ruth Troutman; Bible verse drill, Edward Wolf, Patricia Brown, Carolyn Weller, Nancy Sensenbrenner and Jimmy Carpenter; acrostic, "Serving the Master," Pattie Edgington, Charmene Skinner, Norma R. Howard, Jackie Weidinger, Mildred Justice, Pattie Radcliffe, Russell Hershman, Phyllis Hawkes, Marilyn Blue, Joan Palm, Junior Wilkinson, Joyce Brown, Rita J. Martin, Gen. Radcliff, and Margaret Justice; songs, "Prayer," and "God's Gift of Day," by the primary department.

"Gifts for Jesus," Jack Thorne, Jack Stout and Billie Sensenbrenner; "My Work," Larry Emmons, David Onley, Dolores Hawkes, Barbara Green, Joan Palm, Donald Beck and Dick Palm; song, "Who Taught the Bird," by the primary department; flower offerings for Jesus, Betty J. Wright, Phyllis Weller and Betty J. Maiden; story, Raising of Jairus' daughter, Lois Madison; Bible quiz of the junior department; story, Feeding the Five Thousand, Paul Helwag; songs, "Take My Life," "Spread, O Spread Thou Mighty Word," "A Little Ship," and "Have Thine Own Way."

The first act of the evening presentation will be: "Joseph the Dreamer," with Billy Weller in the role of Joseph. The prologue will be by Ruth Blum. Jack Gall will play Jacob.

Others having parts in the first act are Harvey Wick, Dan, a brother; Alice Schuster, Gad, a brother; Edward Blum, Reuben, a brother; Mark Schumm, Judah, a brother; Jimmy Sensenbrenner, David Walters, David Brown, Har-

Church Briefs

Communion services will be observed Sunday morning in the First United Brethren church. The Rev. T. C. Harper, pastor, will preach on the topic, "The Power and the Glory," at the evening service. Prayer service will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Rev. John L. Tait, of Columbus, will be guest pastor at the 10:15 a. m. service in First Presbyterian church, Sunday.

Children's Day will be observed in the Church of the Nazarene, Sunday at 8 p. m. There will be no preaching service in the evening. "Happiness and Joy," will be Rev. V. E. McCoy's sermon subject for the morning service.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DINNER ARRANGED MONDAY EVE

Monday evening at the Lutheran church the adult Sunday school dinner will be held in the Parish house at 7 o'clock. This is to be a "carry-in" dinner by all members of the church. The dinner will be served by the church members. The program will include a play, "The Life of Joseph," and a song, "The Lord's Prayer."

Following is the program for the evening service: prelude, Mrs. Karl Herrmann; choir and Bible school processions; welcome, Ruth Troutman; Bible verse drill, Edward Wolf, Patricia Brown, Carolyn Weller, Nancy Sensenbrenner and Jimmy Carpenter; acrostic, "Serving the Master," Pattie Edgington, Charmene Skinner, Norma R. Forty From Marietta to Attend M. E.

Members of Rev. Sayre's Former Class To Be At Services

A group of about 40 young married folk of Marietta will journey to Circleville Sunday morning to attend services in the Methodist Episcopal church.

Following the services they will enjoy a picnic dinner and visit with the Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Sayre and family.

The group consists of a class organized by the Rev. Mr. Sayre during his pastorate in Marietta. It was later named "The Sayre Bible Class."

Mrs. Ruth Courtright and Mrs. Ervin Leist will play an organ and piano duet as a prelude to the service at 10:30 a. m., Sunday. The choir selection will be "Trust in the Lord," by Handel.

The offertory number "Father Love Us Still," by Schubert, will be sung by Mrs. J. P. Moffitt and Miss Ruth Moffitt. The Rev. Mr. Sayre's sermon subject will be "Brotherhood or Bombs."

Poems That Live

WANDERLUST

Beyond the East the sunrise, beyond the West the sea, And East and West the wanderlust that will not let me be; It works in me like madness, dear, to bid me say goodbye!

For the seas call and the stars call, and oh, the call of the sky!

I know not where the white road runs, nor what the blue hills are;

But man can have the sun for a friend, and for his guide a star;

And there's no end of voyaging when once the voice is heard,

For the river calls, and the road calls, and oh, the call of a bird!

Yonder the long horizon lies, and there by night and day, The old ships draw to home again, the new ships sail away;

And come I may, but go I must, and if men ask you why, You may put the blame on the stars and the sun and the white road and the sky!

—Gerald Gould

THE DOVE

I had a dove, and the sweet dove died; And I have thought it died of grieving;

O, what could it grieve for? Its feet were tied With a silken thread of my own hand's weaving;

Sweet little red feet! why should you die— Why would you leave me, sweet bird! why?

You lived alone in the forest tree, Why, pretty thing; would you not live with me?

I kissed you oft and gave you white peas; Why not live sweetly as in the green trees?

—John Keats

SONG: ON MAY MORNING

Now the bright morning-star, day's harbinger, Comes dancing from the east, and leads with her

The flowery May, who from her green lap throws The yellow cowslip and the pale primrose.

Hail, bounteous May, thou dost inspire Mirth and youth and warm desire! Woods and groves are of thy dressing,

Hill and dale doth boast thy blessing. Thus we salute thee with our early song, And welcome thee, and wish thee long.

—John Milton

A STARLING'S SPRING RONDEL

I clink my castanet And beat my little drum; For spring at last has come, And on my parapet

Of chestnut, gummy-wet, Where bees begin to hum, I clink my castanet, And beat my little drum.

"Spring goes," you say, "suns set." So be it! Why be glum? Enough, the spring has come; And without fear or fret

I clink my castanet, And beat my little drum. —James Cousins

Messages From Genesis

The Book of Genesis recounts the origin of the universe, of man, of sin and the first promise of salvation through the "seed of the woman" who was to bruise the serpent's head. "In the beginning God created."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—The Book of Genesis and Heb. 11:3-22

Man, made in God's likeness, trusted and disobeyed God and fell into sin and was driven from Eden. God made a second start in Noah who believed God and built the ark for the salvation of his family.

After Noah the race again became exceedingly wicked and God called Abraham to make a new effort through a chosen race to prepare the way for the Saviour promised in Eden. Abraham was a man of faith.

Abraham's descendants, 70 in number, went down to Egypt in Joseph's day where they became slaves for 400 years before God delivered them under Moses when they had grown to be a strong nation.

(GOLDEN TEXT—Hebrews 11:13)

Heb. 11:13—"These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth."

FACTS AND FANCIES Stewing Meat Cuts used for stew are beef neck, shank or chuck, lamb breast, neck or shoulder, and veal shank, neck, breast or shoulder.

1. Cut meat into small pieces.

2. Dredge with flour and brown in hot lard, if desired.

3. Season with salt and pepper.

4. Cover with hot water.

5. Cover and let cook slowly until done.

Glaze With Syrup Use maple syrup instead of sugar to glaze small cookies. Merely spread it thinly across top of each cookie, carefully, so that it does not drip down sides. It gives the cookie a delicious flavor and an even color.

Madison Township Youth Wins Job With Strength

Charles Brown Applies At Power Plant, and Wins Position

By S. D. FRIDLEY Phone Ashville 79

Charles Brown, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Brown, Madison township, that's who we are telling you about. Young Brown a few days ago concluded that he wanted a better job than he had, whatever that was, so he applied for one up at what we call the "power plant." Of course the boss didn't need anyone unless he was better stuff than the ones he already had who were handling iron tubes of about 300 pounds in weight.

Brown laughed at the idea of using two men to handle a little thing like one of those tubes. The boss being some good sport himself, told him if he would pick up one of the 300-pounders and turn around with it, he had a job right then.

And the job was his, because the tube moved as though Old Sampson himself had charge of it. He's on the job every day now and comes in handy for the boss to have around when something like a house needs to be lifted. And we've been telling you for some time that all the good ones come from Madison township.

Youths' Arm Broken

Taylor Accepts Job

Ashville is to lose its watchmaker and jeweler, L. C. Taylor, who will go to Celina, Mercer county, about the first of the coming month where he has a position in a jewelry store as its watchmaker and jeweler. Mr. Taylor has been in this line of business for the last fourteen years and thoroughly "knows the game." Fishing is his hobby. He knows more about fish than they know themselves and he won't be up there long until he'll be calling all fish in that big lake by their given names.

Trustee Visit Village

J. W. Shippers, of Dayton, one of the trustees of the I.O.O.F. grand lodge, was here the other day taking sort of a survey of the holdings the local lodge has here, which includes the I.O.O.F. building and the dwelling beside it. Asked him if he could account for the general decline in membership of practically all the lodges? Said he could not, except that during the depression, lodge members could not keep up their dues and dropped out and have never been reinstated. The automobile and picture show, too, account for a part of the poor attendance at lodge meetings, he said. This condition does not exist here only but is general everywhere, he continued.

Talk of Crop

Talked to several of our farmer friends yesterday and they are not just a little bit concerned about the prospects of saving the fine wheat crop now ready to harvest. A few of them cited us to years when the wheat rotted in the shock and none of it was saved. Others said they had kicked their "sopping wet" and it came through at threshing time in fairly good shape. "But one never knows what old man weather has in store for us, so why worry," one of them said, and we agreed with him. Another said to us that "the corn is growing fine and so are the weeds." Some of these days we are going out in our "boat" and put up a few shocks just to show 'em how its done. The wheat harvest will be on in "full bloom" next week if weather permits.

ANYTHING GOES
EXPERIENCES in Ethiopia and in Spain prove a number of things, including the fact that in certain vital respects war is making what may ironically be called "progress." Students of the history of war may question whether it is possible for war to make greater progress in the general direction of heartlessness and brutality and inhumanity. They claim that Attila set the accepted standards and that there are few important departures from them throughout the ages.

But this theory, it seems, is vulnerable to refutation. In the World War it was a common practice for fliers to sweep down over advancing columns and sweep them with machine guns, also to drench the trenches with bullets from above. In Spain and Ethiopia, however, there have been refinement and improvements in methods of achieving horror. These two conflicts have been attended by almost daily reports of planes pouring a stream of death into mobs of civilians, women and children.

What is most tragically significant is that these practices are accepted as a matter of fact and cause no revulsion of public sentiment. Why, then, should breath be wasted on the subject of the rules of international warfare? Why should there be indignation when wells are poisoned, the bodies of men are consumed by liquid fire, when saw-edged bayonets and dum-dum bullets are used? Why not simply accept General Sherman's judgment that war is hell and let it go at that, without empty talk and meaningless motions dealing with the ethics of war and the rules of civilized warfare?

BEES AND AUTOS
HE DIED of injuries suffered when his auto crashed into a tree while he was trying to brush a bee from the car.

The above, from the news columns, tells a story of what, with more or less tragedy, often happens this season of the year when bees are honey gathering.

It is well to remember these few rules if a bee, or any allied stinging insect, enters your car as you are driving.

First, the sting of a bee is not fatal. It doesn't hurt much more than a bite from a mosquito, though the subsequent pain and swelling are somewhat greater. Prompt application of ammonia, bicarbonate or baking soda or even wet mud—anything that is a strong alkali—will, to a great degree, counteract the effect of the acid injected by the bee's sting.

Second, don't get panicky. The bee in

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up late to a quiet cabin, believing myself alone until Fred appeared suddenly, he having been too sleepy to accompany Bud on his daily dawn fishing jaunt. After coffee and toast did go to the dock to practice casting for an hour and later enjoy a sun bath. Back, then, to the cabin and decided that unless someone soon took a broom in hand we no longer would be able to get into the shack. So, did sweep out, being caught in the act by Bud returning with a big bucket of perch. It appears that Bud's employees at the Chevrolet garage exacted a promise of a large number of perch, and Bud intends getting them. To date he says he has accumulated 146 with a very few added to the total by the scrivener and Fred. Me, I don't like to fish for perch.

Luncheon of hamburger steak, fried potatoes, green beans, some exceptionally fine cookies contributed to the vacation by Mrs. Harden, bread, butter, the ever present apple butter and coffee. ROOSEVELT MOST JUNKETING

WASHINGTON — The President's fishing trip to the Gulf of Mexico while Congress was in session, together with his implied rebuke of the Supreme Court for recessing with important work undone, has focused attention on official vacations — especially presidential ones.

Frequent respites from the grind of being President of the United States long have been recognized as absolutely necessary. That grind is so grueling and wearing that today only one ex-President is alive, although six presidential wives survive.

Woodrow Wilson and Calvin Coolidge both believed in vacations, both enjoyed frequent cruises down the Potomac. Coolidge also invariably decamped from Washington for the summer. Warren Harding was on a summer trip to Alaska when fatally stricken. Hoover was a hard-working President. He never went away in the summer, junked the presidential yacht Mayflower, but built his own fishing camp at Rapidan, Virginia.

Roosevelt is one of the hardest-working Presidents ever to sit in the White House, and on his numerous trips he never really is free of public business. By airplane, cable, radio and telephone he is in constant touch with his office. On his week-end cruises he is virtually always accompanied by a stenographer, spends most of his time dictating and going over reports.

Nevertheless, the record shows him to be the most junketing President in history. And probably his vacations have been more expensive than those of any other President—although the cost of the construction, upkeep and guarding of Hoover's camp ran into big money. A detail of marines was kept on duty there winter and summer.

THE AMBERJACK

Roosevelt's junkets began shortly after the banking crisis in the spring of 1933, during which he worked night and day. It was not until April 24 when he took Premier Ramsay MacDonald on a cruise down the Potomac, that he was able to get any relief from this grind.

your car is just as frightened as you are and more anxious to get out than you are to oust it. The bee buzzes frantically on the windshield. Swatting at it with your hand or handkerchief only frightens it the more. Then in its dartings about it may strike your face and sting.

This needless fear of a simple sting or the swatting which diverts your attention from managing the car may cause a fatal crash.

Third, if a bee gets in your car, steer over to the side of the road. Open both doors. The cross draft of air will carry the bee out or its natural instinct to seek freedom will cause it to fly out. If you feel afraid, after you have opened the doors, get out yourself. The bee will probably fly out before you.

Then you may continue your journey in safety.

Acute Abdominal Pain May Be Appendicitis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
THERE ARE a great many campaigns against the prevention of one or another kind of disease before the public—cancer, heart disease, tuberculosis and diphtheria. The one on diphtheria probably is making the most progress. Among those dealing with chronic diseases, it is curious to record that, contrary to expectation, the campaign against cancer, a disease of which we do not know the cause, is probably the most successful. We do know the cause of tuberculosis and appendicitis, and yet the tuberculosis campaign is lagging largely because we still get late cases.

Dr. Clendening

against cancer, a disease of which we do not know the cause, is probably the most successful. We do know the cause of tuberculosis and appendicitis, and yet the tuberculosis campaign is lagging largely because we still get late cases.

The appendicitis campaign still depends upon instructing the public that an acute abdominal pain, occurring suddenly in the course of a life of health, is always serious. Of course, looking back, it is obvious that a good deal of progress has been made in the treatment of acute appendicitis.

Before it was recognized that inflammations in the lower right side of the abdomen were, in most instances, due to inflammation of the appendix, these cases were called perityphilitis. Under the treatment then in vogue, which was vigorous cathartics, they soon turned into peritonitis and nobody knows how high the mortality went. I have before me the record of the first case of generalized peritonitis which ever recovered in a New York hospital. This was back in the nineties.

At about that time the appendix as a cause of these troubles was recognized, and the term perityphilitis was changed to appendicitis. Even then, when it was known that surgery could remove the appendix, the mortality was 60 per cent. In those far days, some surgeon had the brilliant idea of irrigating the abdomen. This reduced the mortality to about 50 per cent, and then they found that if they let nature pretty much alone and didn't try to do too much washing out or put in too big drainage, operated early and simply, their mortality fell to about 4 per cent.

When the lymphoid tissue of the appendix becomes infected with germs, it produces pus. The important thing is to keep the pus inside the appendix, and prevent it from perforating into the peritoneum. The whole difference between an early and a late case, between a simple disease and a disease of great danger, is just this particular matter. Of course, the ideal thing is to remove the appendix with its pus by surgical operation. If this can be done early, while the patient is in good condition, there is no disease that is more easily recovered from, but all too frequently the condition is allowed to run along until it is too late for operation to be safe.

Love is for Tomorrow By VIRGINIA SCALLON

CHAPTER 31
OUT OF DEFERENCE to her week-end hostess, Marcia selected one of the entrancing little afternoon dresses that hung in her closet. Made of a hand-blocked linen of peculiar green tones, it flared stiffly to the floor where a shallow pleated ruffle of white added effective decoration. The simple square-cut neckline was flattered, and Marcia's perturbed look of buoyant health as she joined Louise von Brecht's other party guests—a rather sophisticated group—on the veranda.

Louise was quick to appraise the girl who modeled her gown so perfectly, and proudly presented her to a Mr. and Mrs. Ben Aldrich, who had just arrived from their own home further down the beach; and a promising new actress billed simply as "Marcella," accompanied as usual by Heinrich, Marcia's agent. Others Marcia recognized as guests on that previous occasion when she and Ellen had accompanied Walt and Tony to a "pouring." Liquor was again much in evidence, and as she accepted a whiskey sour, she studied the group around her.

She could well believe Lona was "as smart as any husband" when she noted the expensive style with which she was able to maintain her beach home. She was never conscious of how many were enjoying her lavish hospitality, only seeming pleased when a cosmopolitan group made life gay and interesting. Marcia wondered when she found time to work, until she realized she had seen her only on week-ends. Intuitively she felt that Lona probably threw herself into her work as wholeheartedly as she did everything else. And, indeed, Lona was the life of the party today.

She was laughing hilariously at the story Marcia told about her first experience trying to land a screen test under her real name of May West. "What chance did I have with a name like that," she had dramatized, "when the original come-hither girl had made it a byword from coast to coast?" Then she admitted that the vague for brevity had been responsible for her choice of only a single name, and henceforth "Marcella" was to cling to her and to shine in the brightest lights over every theater in town. She was a genuine hit, and Marcia was pleased to meet her when she was just starting up the ladder to success.

In the midst of her responsibilities as hostess, Lona looked inquiringly at Marcia. "Where's Gary?" she demanded. Not realizing this was the nickname of the escort whom Lona had selected for her, Marcia thought she must be referring to a dog. Conscientiously, she began to look under her chair and around the porch.

"If you start calling 'Here Gary—Gary—Gary,' that will be the last straw," the man appeared from around the corner, and was genuinely amused at the laugh he'd caused at Marcia's expense. "Eventually I may prove to be an old dog Tray, but I resent it at this stage of the game."

Though he laughed, Marcia was to realize that he would prove as faithful as the original dog Tray, good enough to give us the loan of their lawn.

From what we've read of pioneer times there probably isn't anything as perfect as a log cabin to make one appreciate the benefits of modern plumbing, central heating and electric wall outlets.

It probably won't be long before some enterprising manufacturer begins turning out log cabins on wheels so that one can combine all the discomforts of colonial times and this modern trailer age in one dwelling.

Since his election in 1934, President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico has distributed 20,000,000 acres to poor peasants.

European nations will never agree, comments a gloomy observer of the world scene. Sometimes they do, though. For instance, Europe never has any trouble agreeing not to pay Uncle Sam the latest installment on war debts.

A Notre Dame astronomer says the other stars of the universe are not running away from us, as formerly believed. But they will, as soon as they learn today's headlines about the Spanish war and our industrial troubles.

Unfortunately for them, the three Soviet transarctic flyers—Comrades Chiklov, Baidukov and Bellakov—will never be as well known as Colonel Lindbergh—because no one will ever know how to pronounce their names.

WE SEE BY the advertisements in one of the weekly gazettes that one may own a log cabin for as little as $400. We understand the thing comes in pieces which you can put together in less time than it took Daniel Boone to sharpen an ax as he set out to build one.

Four hundred silver platters seems small indeed to pay for a house though Kit Carson and the other pioneers would have considered it the height of extravagance. Their wooden mansions cost them nothing more than a lot of elbow grease and perspiration.

In the early days it was said no man could be president unless born in a log cabin. Well, we ran out of log cabins eventually but the supply of presidents seems inexhaustible.

We'd like to own one of those log cabins but can't figure out where we'd plant it unless the next door neighbors would be

150 Young People Enjoy Formal at Country Club

Misses Newmyer and Hays Entertain For Guests

The high light of the season for the younger social set of Circleville was the formal dance entertained at the Pickaway Country Club, Friday night, by the Misses Mary Newmyer and Mary Hays.

The affair was planned in honor of the Misses Biddle and May Crumpler, of Danville, Va., house guests of Miss Hays.

Many visitors from out-of-town were asked for the evening, dancing in the Old Barn being enjoyed from 10 until 2. The dance hall presented an attractive appearance, many baskets and vases of lovely garden flowers being used in the decorations, forming a pleasing background for the dainty frocks and black and white attire of the dancers. Music for dancing was furnished by the Casa Rey Swing Band. During the intermission, cakes and punch were served.

About 150 were included in the guest list.

Among the out-of-town guests were Joan Brown, Betty Carol Rodemeyer, Susie Morris, Bill Beach, Russell Dennison, Irvin Smith, Jiles Wright, Bud Brown, Roger Hewlett, Will Jerrold and Warwick McCutcheon, of Ashland, Ky.; Sarajane Miesse, Judy Radebaugh, Martha Ferguson, Mary Jane Nisely, George Rising, Ralph McCracken, Dan Pickering, Dick Weyman, and John McFee, of Lancaster; David Mowery of Wooster; Harold Doan and Dwight McColister, of Portsmouth; Billy Johnson, of Williamsport; Janet and Patty McKinnon, of Athens; Guy Garvin, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Guy Hoffman of Cincinnati; Dorothy Ewing, Kate Moore, Sam Bell, Tom and Frank Kibler, John Prince, of Columbus; Beverly Isler, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Gilbert Underwood, of New Lexington; Robert Foreman, of Philadelphia; and the guest of honor, the Misses Biddle and May Crumpler, of Danville, Va.

Preceding the dance, Miss Hays entertained the out-of-town guests at a buffet supper at 8 o'clock at her home.

Following the dance Miss Newmyer served refreshments at her home for the visitors from a distance.

The chaperons for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. N. T. Weldon, Dr. and Mrs. H. D. Jackson, Mrs. Elizabeth Harman, Mrs. Frank Bennett, Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Hays and Mrs. Newmyer, of Circleville; Mrs. Willard Story, of Washington, C. H., and Mrs. Lawrence Crumpler, of Danville, Va.

Later the guests gathered around the tea table for a social hour. Mrs. John W. Eshelman and Mrs. Joseph W. Adkins Jr. served.

Vattier Courtship Honored

Honoring Vattier Courtship, retiring field engineer for W. P. A., his associate workers entertained at dinner Friday evening at the New American Hotel Coffee Shop.

A four-course dinner was served at 7 o'clock. The tables were decorated in garden flowers, pink and white being used in the color scheme, and continued in the appointments of the dinner.

Covers were placed for D. H. Marcy, Frank Boltenhouse, Wade Canter, Harold Ho, Morris Parker, Harold Heiter, Russell Parker, Otis Stonerock, Spencer Raabe, Harry Reichelderfer, Marvin Sowers, Robert Clark, Charles Bosworth, John Radcliff, Clarence Davis, Roy Arledge, Ernest Brigner, Leonard Morgan, Winfield Koch, Ernest Gregg, Mrs. Beulah Madison, Miss Mary Elizabeth Groce, Arthur Peake, Clarence Martin, and Vattier Courtship.

Mr. Reichelderfer acted as toastmaster, and introduced the guests, who responded with short talks. Miss Groce, with a few well-chosen words, presented a gift to Mr. Courtship, from the guests. Mr. Courtship spoke a few words of appreciation, and Mr. Peake, the new engineer, gave the concluding talk.

Girl Scout Camp Day

The members of the Girl Scout Troops of Circleville will enjoy their first camp day, Tuesday, at the Gold Cliff Chateau.

Mrs. Howard Moore and Mrs. Lawrence Goeller will be in charge of the day's activities. The swimming pool will be reserved for the Girl Scouts during the hours from 10 to 12, and Miss Janet Jones will supervise and instruct the girls. From 12 to 1 o'clock will be rest and lunch period. Miss Iola Wentworth and Miss Mary K. May will teach art and handicraft from 1 to 2. A period of supervised play in charge of Mrs. Stella Morrison will be enjoyed during the hours of 2 to 3.

All members of the Girl Scout troops are invited to attend these meetings which will be held on

Merry-Makers Club

About 25 members of the Merry-Makers Sewing club of the Order of the Eastern Star enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Lawrence Johnson assisted by Mrs. E. S. Shane, Friday afternoon.

During the business meeting, Mrs. George Valentine presided, and Mrs. George Bentley, of Athens, acted as secretary.

Plans were made for a picnic, July 9, at the Masonic Home in Springfield. Mrs. Marshall Spangler and Mrs. William Cady were named members of the transportation committee. They may be reached on phones 1358 and 570.

During the social hour, a dessert course was served by the hostesses. Mrs. B. H. Lukens was a guest of the club.

Ashville Choir Party

Honoring Ira Scothorn, of near Ashville, the members of the choir of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Ashville, entertained at a surprise party at his home Friday evening. Mr. Scothorn has been choir leader for the last ten years.

A covered dish dinner was served at 6 o'clock at small tables in the two front living rooms and the large table in the dining room. The rooms of the Scothorn home were beautifully arranged for the dinner, pink roses being used in profusion. The small tables were centered with vases of roses and the dining table with a large bowl of roses.

Mr. Scothorn was remembered with a gift in recognition of his services. About 34 choir members and their families were present, including the Rev. and Mrs. Walter C. Peters, and son Jerry, the Rev. and Mrs. H. O. Harbaugh, Dr. J. L. Spindler and daughter Helen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Swoyer and son, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Sark and daughter Gladys, Mrs. Walter Hedges and family, Miss Ruth Courtright, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brinker, Mrs. Lily Pearce, Mrs. Ralph Hosler, T. Williamsport Class Reunion

The class of 1936 of Williamsport high school held its first reunion at Gold Cliff Chateau, recently.

Twenty-two members and guests enjoyed a picnic dinner at noon followed by swimming, skating and tennis.

In the evening, ice cream and cake were served to the following: Virginia Betts, Maribel Arter, Margie Carmean, Mary Hastings, Daisy Jones, Kervyn Morrison, Eugene Anderson, Harmon Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Noble, Lyman Jones, Bob Betts, and Mary Minor, of Williamsport; Mary Clark, Conway Stonerock, Francis Clark and Hulda Redd, of Circleville; Helen Hill, Alberta Butler, George Smith, Everett Tomlinson, Egbert Hanson and Robert Holchard, of Columbus.

Kirkpatrick-Follrod

The marriage of Mrs. Fannie B. Kirkpatrick, of E. Ohio street, and Mr. E. P. Follrod, of Williamsport, is announced. The ceremony took place at the home of the Rev. C. L. Thomas, of East Ringgold, Saturday, June 26, at high noon, with the Rev. Mr. Thomas officiating. They were unattended.

Following the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Follrod left for a trip through the northern part of the state. They will reside in Williamsport.

Washington Grange

Washington Grange met in regular session, Friday evening, in the Washington school auditorium.

A musical program was presented by piano students of Mrs. Leon Van Vleet. The first number was a duet, "The Shepherd Boy," by Mrs. Van Vleet and Ethel May, who played another duet, "The Approach of Spring" later in the program. The program continued with "Dancing Leaves" by Martha Bolender; duet, "School March," by Martha and David Bolender; "Lullaby" by Jack Stout; the "Arkansas Traveler" by Jean List.

Robert McCoy played "Grandpa and his Fiddle"; Glenn McCoy played "Drum and Bugle"; Doris Kraft played "Night Winds"; a duet "The Sleigh Ride," was by Mrs. Van Vleet and Glenn McCoy. Mrs. Van Vleet offered one solo number, "Sweet By and By."

The program was concluded with a piano quartet, "In the Procession," by Eleanor and Helen Pontius, Wanda Seymour and Grace Hoffman. After the program, lunch was served by the hostess committee.

Bridge Club Meets

Mrs. Carl D. Beery, of E. Mound street, entertained the members of her bridge club Friday evening at her home. Mrs. Mark Howell and Mrs. Marion Sensesbrenner were substituting guests.

After several rounds of auction bridge, prizes were given Mrs. Walter Halse and Mrs. James Stout, of the club members. Guest prizes were presented Mrs. Howell and Mrs. Sensesbrenner.

Mrs. Beery served delightful refreshments.

Miss Bell Entertains

Miss Charlotte Bell entertained at a bridge-luncheon Friday at her home in Walnut township.

The guests were served at 1 o'clock at the large table in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with regal lilies, babies breath and snapdragons. Following the lunch, contract bridge was in play.

When scores were tallied, prizes were awarded Mrs. Charles Jones, Miss Florence Dunton, and Miss Margaret Anderson. Included in the guests from a distance were Mrs. Jones, of Pittsburgh, formerly Edith Anderson, of Circleville; the Misses Anna Blazer, Mildred Pfau, Margaret Anderson, Margaret Ball, Dorothy Waller, and Mrs. Rachel Hopkins, of Portsmouth; Mrs. Frank Adams and Miss Katherine Kauffman, of Columbus; Mrs. Ralph Hosler, of Ashville; Miss Lucille Neuding and Miss Florence Dunton, of Circleville, were among the guests.

Bacon Pin-Wheels

When the gang drops in for a late evening snack, bacon pin-wheels are an excellent choice, and you can be sure the guests will delight in helping to make them. Inez Willson, home economist, explains how:

Spread slices of bread with cream cheese, roll, and wrap a slice of bacon around the outside, fastening the ends with toothpicks. Place on broiler rack far enough from flame or heating element that they will cook slowly. By the time the bacon is browned the whole

YOUTHS DEMAND POPULAR W.P.A. DIRECTOR HIRED

AKRON, June 26. — (UP) — A picket line of embattled youngsters, many of them six-year-olds tottling shoulder badly mispelled signs, massed about Goodyear Heights Recreation Field today in protest against the dropping of Jimmy Gunn, popular play director, from the WPA payroll.

A huge banner over the baseball field proclaimed: "We want Jimmy — he's our man — or else no recreation!"

Gunn, a wiry Scotsman who came to this country in 1920, was given the job last March after repeated petitions in his behalf. Prior to that he spent his evenings unofficially supervising play at the playground.

Last night several hundred disgruntled youngsters drove two "grownup" softball teams from the ball diamond, preventing the playing of a scheduled game.

"We oughta call the cops," one of the players said as he left the field.

"Yeah," shouted an eight-year-old, "why don't you write the governor?"

NEW YORK, June 26—(UP)—William N. Dickey, husky catcher of the New York Yankees, goes to bat against the Detroit Tigers today in quest of a 13-year-old major league home run record.

If Bill can clout for the circuit today, it will be his seventh in six consecutive games and will match a mark set by George Kelly of the New York Giants in 1924. When he hit his sixth in five games yesterday he only missed by one the record of Babe Ruth and Jim Bottomley.

Dickey isn't worried about home runs. All they mean to him is that a prolonged batting slump is over. Two weeks ago the Yankee receiver was hitting less than .230. In the last 14 games he has batted the ball at a .491 clip to increase his season average more than sixty points to .293.

13 Out of 24
Most remarkable part of Dickey's comeback is the average of .619 for the last five game period of his homerun streak. He has had 24 official times at bat, and connected 13 times—six home runs and seven singles which drove in 17 runs while Bill scored eight more himself. He has batted in 24 and scored 19 in his last 14 games.

A homer and a single yesterday accounted for three in the Yankees 8-1 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Red Ruffing limited the Bengals to six hits to win his seventh game and increase New York's lead in the American league to four games.

The hot National league race continued at a sweltering pace with the leading Chicago Cubs bouncing the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11-2, and the St. Louis Cardinals, one a game behind, trouncing the New York Giants, 9-4. Tex Carleton dealt out but five hits in winning for Chicago, but Lon Warneke coasted to his ninth Card victory, giving up 12 hits, of which eight were doubles. Medwick and Padgett homered for St. Louis.

REDS TO KNOCK AT OLD LOOP'S FIRST DIVISION

CINCINNATI, June 26 — (UP)—If the Cincinnati Reds can keep up the pace they have set this month, they soon will be knocking at the door of the National league's first division.

The Reds today were within two games of the fifth place Brooklyn Dodgers.

In today's game with the Boston Bees, Lee Grissom, ace of the Cincinnati pitching corps, was to try for his seventh victory of the season. Guy Bush was expected to pitch for Boston.

Cincinnati got off to a four-run lead in the first inning yesterday and defeated Boston 6 to 2. Included in the Red's first inning attack were triples by Goodman and Kampouris and doubles by Hefey and Riggs. They were made off Pitcher Johnny Lanning.

Walter Brown, although he was relieved by Ray Davis in the eighth, was credited with the victory. Brown, a 280-pounder recently acquired by the Reds.

League May Name Oils First Half Champions

A move is on in the softball league to declare the Cooper Oils of Commercial Point winners of the first half. The Coopers are two games in front with only two weeks remaining in the first half of the schedule. Because high waters will prevent play for the next two weeks, George E. Hammel, league president, believes the proper thing would be to name the Coopers first half titlists.

When play is resumed the second half would be under way, according to Hammel's arrangement. A meeting of managers was called Friday evening, but only one appeared.

MCCARTHY MEETS EDDIE MEISTER IN GOLF MATCH

CANTON, June 26 — (UP)—Maurice J. McCarthy, jr., of Cincinnati, one of golf's young veterans, and Eddie Meister, jr., of Cleveland, former "boy wonder" who is only 21 years old now, met at the Brookside course here today for the Ohio amateur golf championship.

McCarthy at 30 is a business man-golfer. He confesses that his game is not as strong as it was when he defeated Watts Gunn and George Von Elm in extra hole matches in one day.

Meister since 1930 has been heralded as one of the best young golfers, can drive a ball as far as anyone. Direct long shots helped to win his way into today's 36-hole final match. He is captain of the Yale freshman golf team.

Meister twice has won the district title and once the state interscholastic title. McCarthy is a master of match play strategy.

MORTON COOPER PITCHES BIRDS TO 5 TO 3 EDGE

Righthander Relieves Max Lanier Against Kels and Proves Tough

GRABOWSKI TOUCHED

Two Games on Schedule For Saturday

COLUMBUS, June 26—Morton Cooper's relief pitched proved better than Reggie Grabowski's, Friday evening, so the Columbus Red Birds won the first of a five-game series from the Minneapolis Millers, 5 to 3.

The Birds smacked Henry, Kels' starter, for three markers in the second session, while the invaders drove Max Lanier out in the third. Cooper was almost invincible after he took the mound.

The game was played on a slippery field.

A doubleheader was in store this afternoon with John Chambers and Nelson Potter to chuck for the Birds with Tauscher and Pettit for the Millers.

About This And That In Many Sports

By BILL BRAUCHER
Just Some Quibs

From Sacramento come advices to the effect that a kid short-stop will be the next to reach the majors . . . you guess his nationality . . . his name is Giuseppe Orengo . . . One of the interesting phases of the fight game is the method Mike Jacobs will pursue to get that $30,000 Max Schmeling owes him . . . you can guess that too . . . Chicago is talking about a nickname world series . . . The National A. A. U. ought to be re-named African Amateur Union. Eulace Peacock has stepped forward to take Jesse Owens' place, and a dozen other Negro boys are such in track and field events . . . as Ben Johnson, Mack Robinson, Johnny Woodruff, Jim Herbert, Herbert Carr, Jimmy Smith, Sherman Ford, Fritz Pollard, Jr., Dave Albritton, Mel Walker, Cornelius Johnson, Ed Burke, Bill Walton and Gil Cruter . . . all will compete in the championship meet July 2 and 3 at Marquette. . . .

Scharen 'Shagger'

The Phils have come up with a talented shortstop in George Scharen, brother of Art Scharen, former major leaguer . . . they call George "Shagger" because he goes far for a ball . . . Al Ulbrichson thinks his champion crew of 1937 the greatest of all time, and thinks there never will be another like it . . . the boys set a new four-mile record at Poughkeepsie, 18 minutes 33.3 seconds, but they were just resting on their oars during the last furlong, and if they had been pressed might have cut ten seconds off the time . . .

Just the Trend

Some of the lads hereabouts are writing that Braddock fought a dumb fight, electing to match his inferior right hand against such a slugger as Louis . . . furthermore, they aver, a fighter is paid to take a licking, so why all the mush about his tremendous punching? . . . it sounds a little like picking on a guy when he is down . . . the same bird wrote of the dumbness of Louis when Schmeling knocked him out . . . and now calls Louis superb . . .

Second Detroit

Joe Louis is the second Detroit to win the heavyweight title . . . the other was Tommy Burns (Noah Brusso) who lost it to Jack Johnson in 1908 . . . There's a note here in my book which reads "Tunney-o-vation" . . . that reminds me that I forgot to say the ovation given Gene in Chicago was one of the greatest I have witnessed at a fight . . .

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WHAT A DOUBLE MEANS

WHEN A PLAYER has made an informative double of one major suit, his partner should remember that this almost certainly guarantees a goodly holding in the other major. Bearing that in mind during the play can constitute the guide to successful defense of the contract. It may even betoken an overtake of some high card, so that the other major can be returned through the declarer.

The declarer then had no difficulty in making 4-hearts, as the diamond Q was successfully finessed and the trumps in dummy enabled the setting up of the diamond suit, so that the contract was made.

One East player overtook his partner's club K with the A and returned a trump, but this maneuver did not prevent South from fulfilling his contract.

The East player who defeated the contract overtook his partner's club K with the Ace, but switched to the spade J, figuring that his partner's double undoubtedly indicated strength in that suit. By so doing, he immediately set the contract.

POPULARITY OF LOW-PRICE RESIDENCES GROWING THROUGHOUT NATION

IMPROVEMENTS AID SALABILITY OF HOME

An enclosed coal bin will help to keep the basement clean, especially when coal is delivered. An enclosed fruit cellar will aid in the preservation of foods. Improvements of this type may make a home more salable. The financing of homes may be arranged under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

CABINET DOORS LAP TO EXCLUDE DUST

As a protection against sifting dust, the doors of kitchen cabinets should be rabbetted. The edges should be cut away so that the doors lap where they meet each other and their frames. The doors should strike against a rabbet on the bottom shelf or should strike against the edge of the shelf.

Cost Trend Is Shown in Mortgages

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—This country's need of small homes for families in the low income groups is shown by the response to the knowledge that these houses are available.

The Federal Housing Administration was the pioneer in this field in declaring that livable houses could be built at a minimum cost. This was accepted as a challenge by builders throughout the country and by manufacturers of building materials. Several companies sponsored the construction of homes similar to the ones suggested in a booklet issued by the Federal Housing Administration and found that the published estimates were correct.

Many Homes Since that time hundreds of small houses of this type have sprung up throughout the country. They have been sponsored by women's clubs, business firms, newspapers, and manufacturing concerns. Progressive real estate men and builders have realized the demand for low-cost homes and have started to build them. In a great majority of cases the houses are eligible for financing under the Insured Mortgage System.

Mortgages for new construction insured by the Federal Housing Administration during April and May of this year averaged $280 less per mortgage than during March and April of 1936, indicating that more and more of the houses being built in the United States are in the low-price field.

During the month of June approximately 2,000 demonstration low-cost homes are being opened in various parts of the country, according to the director of the National Small Homes Bureau.

Houses Planned In the Flatbush area of New York large tracts of land which a short time ago were used as truck farms are now covered with attractive dwellings. Realtors report that 200 additional homes are to be started immediately. In Oklahoma City, builders and contractors have arranged for the construction of at least 40 houses to sell for from $2,000 to $3,000. Plans are under way for an additional 32 homes in other sections of the state.

In a mid-western city 1,200 new homes will be constructed in the next two and a half years, a building contractor has announced. The standards of the Federal Housing Administration have guided the architects and builders working on a model home in Toledo, Ohio.

Throughout the state of New Jersey a number of low-cost groups have been built, and California also has similar communities.

Garage Needs Extra Room for Workshop

Garage Needs Extra Room for Workshop

A one-car garage should be at least 9 by 18 feet. This will accommodate almost any size car. The doors should be at least 7½ feet wide and 7 feet high. If any great amount of work is to be done in the garage a few extra feet should be added. Garages may be included in the plans for building when a new home is financed under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

Distinctive Entry Impresses Visitor

A distinctive entry is a key to a house. It is here the visitor gains his first impressions. The type and style of a house should be considered in choosing a door, and only one that suits the architecture should be used, regardless of the owner's desire for the picturesque.

A Livable Room

The large fireplace is the focal point of this room, with an attractive grouping of windows taking second place in the decorative interest. The room, while not exceptionally large, permits a nice grouping of the furniture. The room is in a home which was financed under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration, and planned for an owner who wanted the house built around a living room that would suit the needs of his family. The services of an architect in planning a new home, assure the owner of having a home that meets the requirements of his family.

Home Owners List Pet Peeves In Building Magazine's Poll

Questions and Answers

Q. In getting an FHA loan would one have the lot cleared of indebtedness before building?

A. Yes. If you are buying your lot under contract you will have to finish your contract payments and show clear title to the lot in your name. Or, if you own your lot and have given a mortgage back on it, this mortgage will have to be released before an FHA insured loan can be recorded against the property.

Q. My kitchen needs more light. Is it expensive to install more outlets, and where should they be placed?

A. The outlets are not expensive; one should be over the sink, one in the center of the room, and one near the range. You should obtain the services of a competent electrician.

Q. How far should a concrete footing under a chimney go down for a one-story house?

A. All footings should be designed of a size to adequately support the load to be carried. They should be carried down below the frost line prevailing in the neighborhood.

Q. I desire to build a breakfast alcove in the corner of my kitchen, but do not know whether there is sufficient room. How large should the alcove be, for convenience?

A. If the table and chairs are to be portable, a desired minimum size is 7 feet 6 inches square. If they are to be built in, an area of 4 feet by 6 feet is the minimum desirable for 4 persons.

Q. What type of paint should be used on a concrete wall?

A. Generally speaking, a portland cement paint is better adapted to paint concrete than other types, but several manufacturers have developed quite satisfactory paints for this purpose. We advise consulting your local paint dealer who can recommend the most appropriate paint for the particular purpose.

Today's Houses Have 40 Electric Outlets

A new trend in the wiring and equipping of a home is shown, the magazine, Electrical Merchandising points out, in the fact that the house of today has from 40 to 50 convenience outlets, whereas in 1924 an analysis of 8,000 homes showed an average of 3.4 outlets. The article further stresses that the home with adequate wiring has a higher sales value than one that is lacking these conveniences.

Old Kitchens Easily Brought Up-to-Date

Kitchens in old houses may be easily brought up-to-date with modern equipment. The old-fashioned pantry, a necessary adjunct to the former kitchen arrangements may sometimes be converted into a dining alcove. When houses are purchased under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration changes of this type may be made.

Baseboard Should Rest on Subfloor

It is a good practice to rest the baseboard on the subfloor and butt the finish up against it to avoid the base pulling away from the floor if shrinkage or settlement occur. Even if it is set on top of the finish floor, it should be nailed to the subfloor and not to the studs.

Full Basement Preference of Home Owners

A full-sized basement was the feature most desired by 84 percent of 250,000 home owners questioned in a poll conducted by a building magazine to determine the likes and dislikes of the modern homebuyer.

Eighty-three percent of the owners questioned said they preferred separate living and dining rooms and 82 percent voted for a laundry room. Air conditioning was a desired feature of 65 percent.

A place for the storage of fruits and vegetables was a feature desired by 55 percent of the owners. Fifty-four percent of the voters asked for two or more baths, while an attached garage and a basement recreation room were each listed as a desirable feature by 51 percent. Exactly half of the owners polled voted for thermostatic control of the heating plant.

Asked their views on the modern plan used by some builders of placing the kitchen in the front of the house, with the living and dining rooms in the rear facing a garden, only 14 percent favored the arrangement.

Walls, Ceilings Modernized by New Treatment

Various surface treatments can be employed to bring walls and ceilings up-to-date. The purchaser of an old house might investigate the market to find the product that would best suit his needs.

Sometimes slight structural changes will make an enormous difference in a room. A lowered ceiling will make a room look broader and longer. The monotony of long, unbroken walls may be relieved by niches or bays.

The Federal Housing Administration insures mortgages for the purchase of homes. This mortgage is amortized over a period of years in rentlike payments which include taxes, insurance, interest, and other fixed charges.

Mirrors on Wall

The use of mirrors in small rooms for decorative purposes, when properly designed and installed are both pleasing and practical. Large mirrors as part of the end or side walls give the illusion of space.

House and Garden

If care is given to planning the grounds of a house, the beauty of the structure will be enhanced. The landscaping should be laid out when the house is planned to assure balance.

F. H. A. Insures

The Federal Housing Administration lends no money. It insures loans made by private financial institutions operating under provisions of the National Housing Act.

Proper Roof Construction Is Essential in Home

The structure and covering of the roof are excessively important in home building and should be given particular attention.

The weight of a sloping roof has a tendency to cause the structure to spread, and therefore the rafters of the two slopes must be tied together as close to the bottom as possible. Ceiling joists near the point where the rafters meet the side walls should run parallel with the rafters to serve as a tie, or, if this is impossible, metal straps should be attached to the rafters and run over-and-nailed to at least four additional joists. There should also be tie beams from rafter to rafter near the bottom of the spread.

Slate, tile, wood, composition, or asphalt may be used as a covering. In each instance the better grade of material will prove more economical in the long run, as it will not have to be replaced so soon.

Parquet Floors Obtainable in Assorted Sizes

The home owner who wishes parquet floors may now buy them in sections ready for instant installation. These floors are made up of individual walnut blocks, of a standard thickness and are assembled in a basket-weave pattern and imbedded in a semipliable grill.

In new buildings, these floors are not laid until everything else is completed, thereby avoiding the possibility of damage by scratching or dulling.

Homes financed under the Insured mortgage system of the Federal Housing Administration may have this type of floor if the owner desires.

Architects Study Low Cost Houses

BOSTON, Mass. — The American Institute of Architects studied the problems of low-cost, large-scale housing at its convention here. Walter R. McCormack, chairman of the Institute's housing group pointed out that "second only to doctors, the architects are more necessary to the health, safety, and economic security of the American family than any other group."

Board for Floors

Squares of hard-pressed fiberboard can be used for floors. They can be laid in mastic or nailed over old floors and will take a fine finish if waxed. They are durable, and a variety of color shades will prevent monotony.

Blind Operators

Blind operators, resembling an old-fashioned clock key, may be attached to the lower hinge of the blind through the wall. By winding the handle the blind may be closed without the necessity of opening windows or screens.

Divided Tray

A divided tray and platter compartment in a kitchen cupboard solves an awkward storage problem. Features of this kind may be built in when a home is financed under the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

Garage Needs Extra Room for Workshop

A one-car garage should be at least 9 by 18 feet. This will accommodate almost any size car. The doors should be at least 7½ feet wide and 7 feet high. If any great amount of work is to be done in the garage a few extra feet should be added. Garages may be included in the plans for building when a new home is financed under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration.

Distinctive Entry Impresses Visitor

A distinctive entry is a key to a house. It is here the visitor gains his first impressions. The type and style of a house should be considered in choosing a door, and only one that suits the architecture should be used, regardless of the owner's desire for the picturesque.

Playhouse Offering Universal Advantages for Child, Family

The family with children planning to build a home may find a playhouse has many advantages. If there is enough ground, the playhouse should be provided for when plans for the house are being drawn.

The architect who draws the plans for the house should be consulted regarding the best location for the playhouse. Sometimes when space is limited, such a playroom may be built as an addition to the garage, or even as a second floor to this building.

A playhouse offers the child a place of his very own where his toys and hobbies may be undisturbed and at the same time gives the mother the knowledge that the child is in a safe place. It offers recreation room during unfavorable weather and avoids disturbing noise in the house. The right of privacy and a sense of possession is fostered in a child that has a place of his own.

When homes are built under the terms of the Insured Mortgage System of the Federal Housing Administration a playhouse may be added at a nominal expense.
